The University Session of each year consists of three Terms: the first before Christmas, the second between Christmas and Easter, the third after Easter—extending, with the Christmas and Easter Recess, through thirty-eight weeks. The normal age of admission to the University will be considered to be sixteen.

A first Examination in the elements of Latin and Greek Grammar, of Mathematics, &c., will take place at entrance, when the candidate will be formally admitted as a Student of the University; and a second at the end of two years of residence, on passing which he will receive the title of Scholar of the University. The subjects of study during these two years will be the Classics, Geometry, Algebra, Logic, Geography, Chronology, Ancient, Irish, and English History. After passing his Examination, the Scholar, being then eighteen years of age, will be able to retire from the University; or he may pass into the Schools of Medicine, of Civil Engineering, and of other Material and Physical Sciences; or he will continue his studies in Arts for another two years, the end of which, being twenty years of age, he will undergo a third Examination, issuing in the Degree of B.A. The M.A.'s course will follow.

The subjects of study during the second two years (between eighteen and twenty) will consist of Mathematics, History, Political Economy, Ethics, Metaphysics, Analytical Mathematics, the Principles of Law, the Elements of Astronomy and Chemistry.

School of Engineering.—This school was opened at the commencement of the session, in November, 1854. The subjects of study are Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Geology, and the special application of these sciences to Engineering, together with the principles and practice of Surveying and Levelling.

School of Medicine.—The Medical School was opened in the autumn of the year 1855. Two classes of students are admitted to the instructions given in this School, viz., 1st, Matriculated Students of the University, of three years' standing; 2ndly, Non-matriculated Students.

For further particulars of each department of the University, and for prospectuses, apply to the Secretary, Thomas Scratton, esq., 87, Stephen's-green, South, between the hours of 10 and 4.
